Corporate Mobility insurance at a glance

Pre-trip and on-trip intelligence

Preparing for international travel demands constant vigilance against health, logistical and security risks. Before every departure, we deliver a comprehensive briefing tailored to your destination and sporting context. Throughout your stay, you receive continuous updates on developments that could affect your activities, enabling you to anticipate and sidestep any disruption.

Medical expenses

A medical incident abroad can quickly become costly. Corporate Mobility covers 100 % of the medical expenses incurred for the necessary care of your athletes and staff, allowing your federation to offer the best possible treatment without straining your operating budget.

Travel mishaps and travel insurance

A delayed flight, lost baggage containing essential equipment, or an unexpected cancellation can seriously disrupt your plans. Corporate Mobility steps in quickly to resolve these issues and minimise their impact on your sporting schedule, so you can stay focused on your performance goals without the usual logistical headaches.

Medical assistance

The well-being of your athletes and staff is paramount. Our medical assistance team is on call 24/7, ready to act immediately in the event of an accident, injury or urgent medical issue. You benefit from rapid, efficient and discreet support, perfectly aligned with the demands of professional sport.

Medical evacuation and repatriation

When a medical emergency requires evacuation or repatriation, our team instantly activates its global network of specialised providers. We handle every aspect of the logistics to guarantee a swift, secure transfer, safeguarding your teams' safety and well-being at all times.

Security assistance

If a security crisis, political unrest or unforeseen on-site incident occurs, our team acts immediately. Working closely with local and international authorities, we coordinate every necessary measure to protect your athletes, staff and entire delegation—giving you total peace of mind even in complex situations.

Travel with complete peace of mind, perform at your peak

During international competitions, the safety and tranquillity of your sports federation are crucial to the performance of your athletes and staff. With Corporate Mobility, you enjoy comprehensive, flexible protection perfectly tailored to every trip, training session and competition—wherever sport takes you.

Insurance that recognises the value of your people

Corporate Mobility is purpose-built to meet the specific needs of professional sports federations. Because every trip is critical to sporting success, we deliver comprehensive cover for everyone involved in your international missions.

Athletes – protect their focus and performance

For your athletes, an unexpected medical or logistical issue can instantly affect performance and concentration. Corporate Mobility shields them throughout their entire international journeys—from intensive training camps to marquee events—providing swift, professional and discreet assistance.

Coaches and staff – safeguard the architects of victory

Coaches, strength-and-conditioning experts and medical personnel are pivotal to your federation's success. We protect their safety and well-being, allowing your technical team to stay laser-focused on its essential task: guiding your athletes to excellence.

Referees and officials – preserve their integrity and neutrality

Your federation often arranges travel for referees and officials at international competitions. Corporate Mobility affords them complete security and independence, while safeguarding the neutrality and integrity that are vital to their role in every contest.

Federation employees – keep operations running smoothly

Your administrative and logistics teams ensure every trip unfolds seamlessly. Corporate Mobility lets them travel with confidence, limiting disruptions from the unexpected so they can concentrate fully on their organisational responsibilities.

Federation partners – strengthen collaboration

When partners and sponsors accompany you to international events, we provide them with tailored, all-round protection. This ensures collaborations take place under optimal conditions, enhancing relationships and reinforcing your federation's professional image.

Families and loved ones – offer added peace of mind

On request, we can also extend our cover to the families of athletes and staff. This option gives athletes priceless reassurance that their loved ones are protected whatever happens, freeing them to perform without worry.

Plan your journeys without fear of the unexpected.

Flexible protection for every trip

Every sporting journey is unique and presents its own challenges. Corporate Mobility adapts precisely to the nature of your international ambitions, delivering optimal security in every context.

Training camps – fortified safety for perfect preparation

Pre-season and in-season camps abroad are critical. We provide full cover during these key phases, so your delegation can train in the best possible conditions, free from safety distractions or unforeseen events.

Overseas competitions – tame the unpredictable

International competitions are high-pressure environments. We handle every medical, security and logistical contingency, keeping your athletes focused on performance and securing ideal conditions for your sporting goals.

Delegation representation – protect your image and your envoys

When an official delegation represents your federation abroad, any incident can tarnish your reputation. Corporate Mobility guarantees the security and peace of mind of your representatives, safeguarding your institutional image and sporting interests worldwide.

Congresses and international assemblies – diplomatic and administrative security

We cover travel to congresses and global gatherings, shielding your staff and officials from the unexpected so they can concentrate fully on the strategic stakes of these pivotal meetings.

International training sessions – build skills with total confidence

Your staff and officials attending international training benefit from comprehensive cover. We ensure their peace of mind, enabling them to capitalise on these development opportunities essential to your federation's growth.

Promotion and exhibition tours – grow your sport safely

International trips to promote your sport demand rigorous risk management. Corporate Mobility stands with you, providing top-tier security so you can showcase your discipline under the best, most professional conditions.
